The insolence of the Allies may be seen in the fact that Lord John Russel in the recent debate | committee of one from every township to rein Parliament, insisted that a limitation of port resolutions to this Convention, expressive persons born within the territory of this Commonwealth, and all who have resided therein two years next before the Russian naval power in the Black Sea of its views on the political issues of the grate into the same, other than alien enemies, and shall was indispensable.

Americans will appreciate this if they will apply it to themselves by supposing France and England to demand a diminution of our squadron in the Gulf of Mexico, as a security that we would not invade Cuba.

England and France profess to be the advance guards of civilization, and yet are trying to energise into galvanic life a Mahomtion. Our own Dr. Durbern, if we mistake ported the following resolutions, which were not, some time ago, pointed out the fact that the Musselmen were incapable of progression directed attention to Russia as the star of litical. hope for Mahommedan councies.
